MY PHILOSOPHY

Every wedding is different, but my goal is always the same! To make people feel as comfortable in front of the camera, as I do working behind the camera.

Weddings are the beginning of the next chapter for two people and I take great pride in documenting the day as it happens naturally.

ABOUT ME

Welcome; my name is Aaron. I am a lover of all things outdoors; walking our Golden-doodle Wesley and trips away in our camper van with my family; Wales, specifically Snowdonia being a personal favourite!

I have a major obsession with cameras, I love shooting film and developing and scanning at home, nothing has taught me more about photography than shooting film.

I first started shooting weddings in 2012 and have loved every minute! Wedding photography has taken me up and down the country and I'm very fortunate to have worked in some stunning places and with some awesome couples over the years.

I am very relaxed & chilled when it comes to shooting weddings and I love nothing more than making people feel as chilled and relaxed in front of the lens, as I do behind the camera.

ENGAGEMENT SHOOTS

With all our packages we offer free engagement shoots, this is important because it gives couples a chance to get in front of the camera ahead of the big day.

This builds confidence in front of the camera but also makes a relationship between you as the couple and myself as the photographer; so that I'm not a strange face turning up on your wedding day - resulting in us all feeling more relaxed working together.

YOUR WEDDING DAY

This monumental day, that you have plotted, sketched and planned and that has most likely caused you some stresses along the way, has finally arrived! Let go of those nerves and enjoy every moment. Let me capture your beautiful story as it unfolds.

My aim when capturing a wedding day is simple, to blend in with your guests and work with you to make you feel comfortable and happy enough to relax in front of the camera!

Nothing is more important to me than working seamlessly around you and your guests throughout the day and at the end of it all having a set of images that tell your beautiful story.

TESTIMONIAL

Aaron was a dream to work with! He listened to exactly what we wanted from our photos and any concerns we had, and delivered above and beyond.

We felt incredibly supported through the process of changing dates and venues. Our pre-wedding shoot, and couples sessions and family photos on the wedding day were such fun, relaxed experiences - Aaron has a way of making even the most awkward of people in front of a camera feel comfortable!

Green Button Photography slotted into our day seamlessly, and we're so grateful for the kindness shown towards our family and friends too. The loveliest human with the amazing ability of capturing all the magic and emotion of a wedding, and making it look effortless and natural. We couldn't recommend enough!
